OXYTOCIN HOUSE OF LEARNING

Phoenix Rising for one team

Accredited anti-racism learning for a ward, service or team of ten. One price and one invoice, sized for a team budget.

£2,950

plus VAT, for ten places
That is £295 a person.

Ten single places cost £3,990 at today's founding price, and £8,990 at the standard price from 1 January 2027.

The team price is for teams that book by Friday 11 December 2026, for a January start.

What your team gets

- Ten places on Phoenix Rising: all 36 lessons across the Foundation, Practitioner and Organisational levels, at each person's own pace.
- 60 CPD hours each, accredited by The CPD Standards Office, with a certificate on completion.
- A 30-minute kick-off with Dr Jacqui Dyer MBE and Edward Neequaye MSc, to set the team off together.
- A short summary for you at the end: who has completed, their certificates, and suggested next steps for the team.

Who it is for

- Ward managers, team leads and service managers who want their team to learn together.
- Teams working with PCREF, NHS England's Patient and Carer Race Equality Framework.
- Mixed teams: staff alongside patients, carers or community members, if you wish.

How it works

1. A 30-minute conversation with us.
2. You send the ten names; we send the invoice (30 days, purchase orders welcome).
3. Places open on your chosen January start date.

Phoenix Rising is an accredited anti-racism learning programme for whole teams: staff, leaders, patients, carers and communities, built around PCREF and the decisions that sit with a trust's leaders. It is not a staff-support, casework or investigation service, and it is designed to sit alongside the networks and independent advice that colleagues already value.
